

Karate Referee Alert System

During a Kumite match, every moment carries immense importance.

The Karate Referee Alert System is vital, ensuring unwavering focus on athletes and actions, preventing any oversight by Referees, Kansa, or Timekeepers.

Key Benefits

- » Offers a modern, synchronized approach and Kansa alert communications during matches.
- » Alternative or complement to, supporting the traditional whistle system.
- » Ensures vital rule-based moments, such as the announcement of Ato-Shibaraku are not missed.
- » Engineered for optimal performance in crowded, noisy indoor environments with close proximity of multi-Tatamis.
- » Design mitigates time-related confusion caused by other audible signals such as whistles and scoreboards.
- » Elevates the experience for athletes, coaches, referees, match officials and spectators.
- » Both Kansa and the Timekeeper can individually alert the referee, ensuring swift response and immediate action.
- » The referee remains focused on the athletes, enhancing judgment in cases involving contact and energy transfer.
- » Customizable audible, vibration, or combined alert options to suit individual Federation requirements.
- » Modernizes Tatami communication to reduce time related issues and protests through an updated approach.

How it works

Alert - ATO-SHIBARAKU

- » When the match time reaches ATO-SHIBARAKU, the timekeeper presses button 1, triggering an audible/vibration alert to the referee to immediately announce 'ATO-SHIBARAKU' to the athletes.

Time Up – Yame

- » When the match time concludes, the Timekeeper presses button 2, initiating an audible/vibration alert to the referee, prompting them to stop the match.

Stop Match

- » As required the Kansa or Scorekeeper has the autonomy to activate the button on the handheld pendant, initiating an audible/vibrate alert that promptly notifies the referee to halt the match.
